Head Table

SWEETHEART TABLE: Instead of sitting at a more traditional head table, the bride and groom can enjoy a little alone time by sitting at their own two-seater dining table. The bridal party then sits together with their dates at regular guest tables.

Maids & Men: Instead of staggering the seating of maids and men at the head table, all bridesmaids would sit on the bride's side and all groomsmen on the groom's side, similar to the ceremony lineup.

Parents' Table

SEPARATELY HOSTED TABLES: Instead of traditionally seating the parents and officiant at one table, each set of parents hosts their own table of close family and friends. This works especially well in situations with divorced parents, allowing everyone to sit with people they enjoy while remaining separate. The officiant and his or her date is incorporated into one of the other guest tables.
